

American Medical Response

Project Outline

AMR, the nation's premier provider of emergency medical services and ambulance transportation, needed to relocate their Seattle office. The new site needed to incorporate a call center, private offices, server room, open office workstations, ambulance service bays, parts storage and an outside bay for washing the ambulances.

Scope

GVA Kidder Mathews represented AMR as their owner's representative during the lease, design, construction and move phases of the project. Our services included reviewing the lease, overseeing the general contractor's bid for subcontractors, reviewing and approving the general contractor's final budget and schedule, preparing and conducting a competitive bid for a phone system, cabling vendor, mover and new furniture workstations.